Heather Leeper is the owner and creator of Little Leapers and The LEAP Performing Arts Academy and its unique curriculum. Heather has studied dance for over 30 years. She trained in Saratoga, NY under New York City Ballet esteemed alumni: Michael Steele, Olga Kostritzky, Deborah Wingert, and Gabrielle Whittle. She also trained under Darlene Myers of the Pennsylvania Ballet Company at the Myers School of Dance, and performed with the Northeast Ballet. Heather comes from a long line of dancers, including her grandmother who graduated from the Performing Arts High School in New York (Remember 'FAME'?) where she graduated with such prestigious classmates as Arthur Mitchell, founder of the Dance Theatre of Harlem. Heather has performed with various companies including the New York City Ballet, Saratoga City Ballet (soloist), Ballet Regent, Northeast Ballet (soloist), Brooklyn Ballet, Blacksburg Ballet (soloist), Albany Berkshire Ballet (soloist), and the Dance Company at Virginia Tech.

director's note

Thank you for joining us for our 10th Anniversary performance of "The Nutcracker." It is thanks to the amazing community that we have here in the New River Valley and Roanoke that we were able to build such an amazing program and performance opportunities for our students to flourish! To understand how successful our show has become, it's important to know where we started.

In 2012 I had the idea to perform "The Nutcracker" with a couple of kids I had been teaching at the YMCA in a class I called "...Little Leapers." Upon contacting a local theater, they assured me that I could rent the space, but warned that it likely wouldn't pull in a very large crowd. It sold out. That January, Little Leapers found its first dance studio at the First and Main shopping center. Fast forward two years, the little theater that could not foresee the future of Little Leapers' Nutcracker was no longer able to accommodate how large the show had grown. So, the show moved to the Haymarket Theater, before its introduction as the first-ever Nutcracker at the Moss Arts Center (MAC) and being hailed "the most successful community event at the MAC!"

I always wanted "The Nutcracker" to be a community event, with auditions open to the public and not just for our students. Throughout the years many local dancers, gymnasts, corps of cadets, and cultural groups have participated in this annual production, every year getting bigger and better than the last. In 2016, Little Leapers was one of four Nutcrackers in Virginia to have a live orchestra! In 2017, we introduced a Flying Mouse Queen!

2020 proved to be a stick in the mud for performance opportunities. But, like everything else, that didn't stop the show from going on! Instead, Little Leapers gave the opportunity of being Clara in "The Nutcracker" to any child who dreamed of stepping into the role! Dancers learned the part and filmed on a green screen. With the help of the LEAP Performing Arts Company, they were transported into their very own version of the Nutcracker on the silver screen! These Claras received the opportunity of a life time and a memory never to be forgotten!

We are so excited to be performing onstage again this year! Little Leapers is a dance family filled with love, tradition, and 10 years of memories!

"The Nutcracker"

Story adaptation by Heather Leeper

With all of the traditional elements, Little Leapers take on the Nutcracker gives a fresh perspective on this classic holiday story. This unique spin highlights the importance of being grateful and kind this holiday season.

The Staulbaum family is hosting a holiday party for all of their friends and their children. Among their guests is a mysterious and flamboyant toy maker, Aunt Drosselmeyer. Every year, she brings larger than life toys and special gifts for the Staulbaum children. However, Drosselmeyer sees the cruel and selfish spirit of Marie Staulbaum, and decides to give her new gift, a nutcracker, to the poor maid's daughter, Clara, instead. In a jealous rage, Marie steals the Nutcracker and pushes her brother Fritz over causing it to break. A heartbroken Clara rocks her toy. Although broken, the nutcracker is the only toy she has ever owned.

After the party is over, Marie sneaks down from her bedroom to find "her" nutcracker with Clara, who is asleep next to the couch, and swiftly takes it. Satisfied with herself, she too falls asleep in the parlor. Clara and Marie are awoken when an army of mice begin to cause mischief, and the girls begin to fight over the Nutcracker. Before long, Drosselmeyer interrupts and settles the affair, and then transforms the nutcracker toy into a life-size soldier. When Marie reappears, she has has turned into a giant mouse queen. The Nutcracker and his toy soldiers begin to battle the army of mice. After a fierce battle, the Nutcracker successfully triumphs over the mouse queen and transforms into a prince. In celebration, the Nutcracker Prince leads Clara through the snowy mountains on a journey to the Land of Sweets.

The Sugar Plum Fairy welcomes Clara and her Nutcracker Prince to the Land of Sweets in an exciting affair and coronation. In celebration, performers and sweets from various countries dance for Clara. After all of the exciting performances, as she is waving goodbye to all her new friends, Clara awakens from her dream to find her nutcracker.

The Nutcracker, as a whole is a beloved seasonal ballet treasured by dance studios and companies all across the world. However, the Ballet world's depiction of different characters, their cultures and race in the second act have been the subject of scrutiny.

Since this ballet dates back to nearly a century and a half ago, several of the portrayals of ethnically diverse peoples are dated and are seen as offensive. For this reason, Little Leapers has partnered with Lisa Linger with Mental Health in Motion to ensure we celebrate the beauty of many cultures and not portray based on cliché or stereotypes of each culture

We're in the process of growing and learning what it means to reimagine the Nutcracker to be an inclusive and celebratory production for all. including representing and adding more cultures to the land of sweets as a cultural dance festival.
